

The regulars charged that the Freedom party was a rump group, an outside pressure group and had absolutely no legal right to represent the state party.

The credentials committee headed by former Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania, had obtained acceptance by the convention on a voice vote of a report that required the Mississippi regulars, chosen under the auspices of Gov. Paul Johnson, to pledge support to the Johnson ticket before they could be seated. Johnson announced in Mississippi that under no circumstances would he support the Johnson ticket, an outcome that was a surprise to no one.

The committee recommended that the rival Freedom delegation be welcomed to the hall and

Democrats Don't Fear a Backlash

By STANLEY MEISLER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Almost all Democratic leaders say they harbor no fears about any white voter "backlash" in the November presidential election.

Instead, they confidently say they hear what they call the much larger crack of a moderate Republican "frontlash" against Barry Goldwater on Nov. 3.

These views came in an Associated Press survey of the party leaders at the Democratic National Convention. They were asked whether they thought there is a backlash, and if so, how the Democrats should meet it.

Most did not agree on how to handle it. At the same time, they did not seem disturbed about their disagreement. The backlash, in their view, was not so great as some people supposed.

In the whip imagery that has become a cliché of the 1964 election, the white backlash signifies votes by white Democrats and independents against Lyndon B. Johnson because of their resentment over the Civil Rights Act and Negro demonstrations; the Republican frontlash signifies votes by moderate Republicans against Goldwater because of his conservative views.

There were some sharp dissents from the prevailing views in the survey. Gov. Albert S. Harrison of Virginia, for example, said, "People are getting fed up with the sit-ins, wade-ins, kneel-ins, and what have you. I think unless the situation abates it will be very harmful for Democratic chances."

But most leaders agreed with the presidential candidate of 1952 and 1956, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

"If we respect the law, if we don't tolerate violence and disorder, if we practice what we preach about equality, if the strong help the weak and the rich the poor, there won't be any lashing," Stevenson said.

The different views on how to deal with the problem were revealed in contrasting statements from Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

"We're not going to deal with it at all," said Brown.

"Much of the effects of any white backlash on civil rights will be dispelled if we explain exactly what is in the bill," said Humphrey.

Brown, elaborating on the strategy of forgetting the backlash, said, "We're just going to deal with the positive aspects of what the administration has accomplished. We think there is a frontlash. Time righteousness of our position was shown by the many Republicans voting for the civil rights bill."

Humphrey, elaborating on the strategy of meeting the issue head-on by explaining the civil rights bill, said, "For instance, it does not affect housing, it does not affect job security, and yet it is in these areas where the fears arise."

Alabama Still

Continued From Page One that two of its leaders be seated as delegates at large with votes that would not be used because no roll calls were in the offing. The Freedom group rejected the compromise but some of its spokesmen said they might reconsider today.

All of this was accompanied by the routine of having candidates for the Senate and governors read the platform, section by section. It was adopted on a voice vote with brief cheering. McCormack took over the permanent chairman's gavel with an attack on the Republicans. He said the GOP had been captured by extremists who use the methods of totalitarian movements.

"The Republican nominee is trying to create doubt in the power of America's defense, and this in the face of the most abundant proof of America's superiority over its potential enemies," McCormack declared.

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, another convention speaker, demanded that Goldwater clarify what he means by "conventional nuclear weapons." Goldwater has said it was rash and irresponsible to deny the North Atlantic Treaty Organization the firepower of tactical nuclear weapons.

Southern governors continued to grumble that Humphrey would be the second-place candidate with the most political liabilities in Dixie. At the same time, they hastened to say they would go along with anybody the President named.

The thinking among the seasoned politicians was that having spent two days maneuvering to quiet any Southern rebellion and moving to prevent any spectacular walkout, Johnson owed the party liberals a gesture to keep them relatively content with the "consensus" party he is trying to build for the general election.

Bailey said he knew nothing about any such arrangement, adding that "they are not in the convention." Since no roll calls seemed likely, nobody seemed to care much who sat in the Alabama chairs.

Skillful maneuvering kept the credentials fight off the convention floor, and there was no walkout to be recorded by television cameras.

Outside the hall the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party delegates demonstrated on a side street, television cameras and passersby catching their activities.

Faubus Opposes Rights Plank

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas said here Tuesday he opposed the civil rights plank in the Democratic Party platform.

"I have a pretty thorough disgust for all this civil rights business," Faubus said. "I disagree with any civil rights plank."

Faubus declined to say whether he would support President Johnson but called the President "a very able man."

The governor also declined to comment on other Democratic planks because "I haven't read"

"DEAR ABBY"

NOTHER "COLD" WAR!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: What do you think of a wife who keeps asking her husband, age 64, when he is going to retire? The husband is a successful businessman who enjoys being in business, is in good health, and never thinks about retiring until his wife brings it up.

Also what would you think if this wife took out TWO additional policies on her husband's life while she was his bookkeeper and was authorized to sign his checks? (This wasn't discovered by the husband until several years later.) This same wife reads every magazine article she can find on things a widow should know. She claims she is only being "realistic." I would like your opinion.

SOMEbody's HUSBAND
Dear Husband: Your wife's waging a war of nerves—and winning! Relax, or you'll accommodate her sooner than you both think.

Dear Abby: I am mad! I just returned from a friend's house and she slyly accused me of having amorous feelings about my doctor! What's with people? They think the milkman, postman, salesmen and repair men are all the secret lovers of every woman who looks at them sideways. Some people can't forget about sex for one minute! Why can't people be motivated by art, music, world peace or something else?

"Viva La Sense" in F.T. Wayne
Dear Viva: Some people are! What's with you?

Dear Abby: I enjoyed the letter in your column from a pair of identical twins who said they didn't like to be called "Twin" or "Twinnny" and they were disgusted with people who asked, "Are you twins?" That last complaint is so familiar to me because I have an identical twin brother, and when we were young, we were dressed alike, and still people would ask, "Are you twins?" My mother told us that when we were about three years old she was walking down the street with one of us on each side of her, when a strange woman stopped us and asked my brother, "Are you brothers?" And he replied, "No, ma'am, we're sisters."

Very Few Will Likely Read the Platforms

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The most obvious thing wrong with the Democratic and Republican platforms is that they're too long. Relatively few voters are likely to take the time and trouble to wade through them.

Still fewer would go through the ordeal of comparing them point by point, even if they could, to check their accuracy, exaggerations and philosophy.

Such a comparison, just to start, would require saving a copy of the Republican platform, released almost six weeks ago, to lay beside the Democratic document now being made public in pieces here where the convention opens today.

The Democrats, by producing their platform mweeks after the Republicans' appeared have a tidy advantage: they have been able in many instances to try to answer the Republicans' complaints point by point.

Platforms are essential for laying out the positions and promises of both parties. And they're useful to the politicians as talking points. But there's no excuse for their unreadable length.

But in this campaign, already showing signs of being heavily weighted with personal attacks, the reasoning and statistics of the platforms are apt to be blurred even for those reading and comparing them.

As usual, this year's two documents follow the typical platform pattern. That of the in-party, the Democrats, glows with optimism about its handling of problems and points with pride to what it considers fine achievements.

The out-Republicans, wanting in, grumble gloom and criticism about the past and future under Democrats and pant for a chance to do it better.

In this sense both platforms are corny.

But there is a deeper difference which in this particular year should get voters' careful attention, although they will form their opinions more from listening to the politicians than from reading them in the platforms.

This deeper difference is between the views of the Democrats and Republicans toward government's role in the American society. As is now well known, the far more conservative Republicans under Sen. Barry Goldwater want far less of it.

The gap between the conservative and liberal views of the two parties is more absolute in this campaign than in any in this century, thanks to the particular philosophy of Goldwater and his followers.

Where many previous elections were far more a personality contest than a struggle between party views of government and toward individuals, this one for the first time in

Children Set Out on Long Trip

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Financed by piggy bank money, four children set out today on a 600-mile trip to St. Petersburg, Fla.

It began to rain before they got out of town, so they sought refuge in a car muffler shop. The shop owner contacted police, who ended the children's journey with 597 miles yet to go.

The hitchhikers were a girl, 9, and her brother, 6; and two other boys, brothers, 8 and 9. Only the three boys had piggy bank money.

"I left mine at home because I didn't know we were going to Florida," explained the girl.

Nine Killed in Crash in Texas

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Nine persons—five from Illinois, four from Texas—were killed Monday when a car and a pickup truck collided in a dark downpour near this eastern Texas city.

The sole survivor was an 8-year-old girl who lay in a hospital unaware her parents, two sisters and a brother died in the collision.

She is Gayle Redeker, who was termed in fair condition at Medical Center Hospital here. Dead in the car were Gayle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Redeker of Route 2, Box 116, Milford, Ill.; two other daughters, Alma and Beverly, both 11; and a 16-year-old son.

Killed in the pickup truck were William David Frizzell, 24, Freddy Hammonds, 19; Leon W. Ward, 43; and Louis Gill, 28, all of the Tyler area.

generations should truly hinge upon ideas.

The tone of the two platforms can be illustrated by using side by side section headings from both of them. In what follows the Republican view is given first, the Democratic next:

Republicans: "Inability to Create Jobs." Democrats: "Full Employment." Republicans: "Fiscal Irresponsibility." Democrats: "Fiscal Responsibility." Republicans: "Retarding Enterprises." Democrats: "Economic Growth."

Republicans: "Neglect of Natural Resources." The Democrats, under the heading of "Natural Resources," devote 5½ pages to show how much they feel they have done in this field.

Republicans: "Weakness Before Communism." The Democrats, under the heading of "The Communist World," argue for six pages on how "the record of world events in the past year reflects the vigor and success of U.S. policy."

Republicans: "Undermining the United Nations." Under "United Nations," the Democrats protest over two pages that they've strengthened the United Nations.

Mass Given in English for 1st Time

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Roman Catholic Mass, presented for the first time in English enraptured 11,000 persons witnessing the historic event Monday and seemed to fulfill its aim: To present the Gospel in familiar terms.

It was the first time the dialogue between priest and the laity was in English during worship — a change that will come to all Latin rite churches in this country on Nov. 29, the first day of the ecclesiastical year.

Not all the Mass was in English — as it is expected to be eventually. The prayers said at the foot of the altar by the celebrant, the Rev. Frederick R. McManus, of Washington, D.C. were in the traditional Latin.

The service veered from tradition in other respects, too. Father McManus faced his huge congregation from a dais raised three feet from the auditorium floor. The altar was a simple gray block flanked by 40 gray wooden cubes upon which sat the priests who helped distribute communion.

One of the hymns was by Martin Luther, 16th-century German Reformation leader.

Another hymn sung in English was part of a Mass written three years ago by the Rev. Clarence J. Rivers, 33, a Negro priest from Cincinnati, Ohio. Father Rivers sang in a rich baritone while communion was distributed.

Filmland Alive With the Beatles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The hills were alive with the sound of screaming Sunday night as the Beatles made their local debut at Hollywood Bowl.

It was a wild scene, man. The hillside amphitheater, ordinarily the home of symphonies under the stars, was packed to the highest reaches with emotion-wracked adolescents.

The crowd of almost 19,000 sat restlessly through preliminary acts of rock 'n' roll personalities. Finally, the Beatles appeared, jaunty under their floor-length hairdos. Pandemonium.

The quartet breezed through their famous songs with scant regard for the shrieks that sounded almost continuously. In exactly half an hour, their performance was over. They reportedly earned $50,000.

Washington, D.C., was narrator of the Mass, speaking from the sacristy before the altar.

Permission for holding parts of the Mass in the language of their country was given last year by the Second Vatican Council of Pope Paul VI.

Its first presentation in English opened the 25th annual liturgical week — a four-day workshop on church matters for 15,000 priests, nuns and lay people.

A 42-member commission, including two Americans, will begin next April to rewrite the entire Mass. One of the Americans is Joseph Cardinal Ritter, archbishop of St. Louis.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The news conference was scheduled for 7:15 p.m., and at precisely 7:15 the Beatles walked through the door.

A couple hundred newsmen crowded onto the floor of the Cinnamon Cider, a San Fernando Valley night club for teen-agers, while a hundred or more young girls stood atop platforms and booths on the periphery. One of these was a close relative, blonde and 16, posing as my assistant.

The Beatles, smoking cigarettes and looking world-weary, disappeared in a mass of photographers.

"George has the prettiest hair," observed my assistant.

After minutes of shooting, the photographers were admonished to sit down so the news conference could start. It was more minutes before this was accomplished. Then the questions began.

How long does it take Beatles John and Paul to write their songs?

"It depends, sometimes an hour, sometimes as long as two days. 'A Hard Day's Night' was written overnight because the producer said he wanted a title tune in a hurry."

Do they ever worry about their safety?

"No, because the fans have never gotten to us. We won't be concerned until they trample us to the floor. The only time we really worry is when protection is inadequate, as in New Zealand, where there were three policemen to handle a crowd of 8,000."

What about reports they were crazy about Ann-Margret?

"None of us know her. None of us, including Ringo, has even talked to her on the telephone. It must have been the work of her press agent."

Is Beatle Jon writing another book?

"Yes."

What is the nicest place they've ever played?

The conference ended with the announcement of presentations on the platform: "George will accept the gold records, John and Paul will take the trophies from the fan clubs, and Ringo will receive the key to California."

On the way out my assistant noticed an ecstatic young girl clutching a glass of soft drink to her bosom. "It was Paul's," she murmured.

The Rev. Francis E. Fenton, rector of Bridgeport's Blessed Sacrament church, is a member of the national council of the society, a militantly conservative organization.

"As an individual, Father Fenton enjoys the freedom of every American citizen to belong to any organization of his choosing," said Bishop Curtis. "As a priest he continues to enjoy that right."

Father Fenton was reprimanded last year by the diocesan vicar general after he announced support of a petition urging the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Shaggy Singers Hit in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Beatles made their debut in Hollywood society Monday night and scored as big a hit as they do with teen-type audiences.

The shaggy singers from Liverpool were the attraction at a garden party to benefit the Hemophilia Foundation.

It was a question of who was more excited — movie stars' children at seeing the Beatles or the Beatles at seeing the movie stars.

Movie moppets of all sizes attended. John Forsythe brought his Page, 13, Brooke, 10, and Anne, 14.

"They drug me here," he complained mildly.

Jack Palance had his three children in tow. Shelley Winters was busy shooting photos of her Romina, 11.

Lloyd Bridges lifted his Cindy, 11, atop his shoulders for a better view of Ringo, Paul, John and George.

With today's emphasis on technological study, students will be required to compute and verify answers faster than ever before. Here is where the slide rule, one of the oldest and most

Democrats Misled, Says Goldwater

By WALTER R. MEARS

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today the Democrats "are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament."

The Republican presidential nominee also said that if he is elected, U.S. allies in Europe will be invited to plug into the Washington-Moscow hot line.

In a speech prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention he said that the United States must find a way to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "with its own stock of small, tactical nuclear battlefield weapons—what may truly be called conventional nuclear weapons."

"The weapons he is telling them about, Goldwater said, are 'no more powerful than the firepower you have faced on the battlefield. They simply come in a smaller package.'"

In New York City Monday, Goldwater met privately with business leaders.

"It's been a very good day," he said. "I'm well pleased with it."

An aide said the meetings were held to give the business community a chance to get acquainted with Goldwater and his views.

In his speech to the veterans here, the Arizona senator said President Johnson and the Democrats are undermining NATO unity.

"This administration must answer not just to the voters of this nation, but to history for its abject failures in foreign policy. And of these failures, none is more tragic than the lack of support for NATO," Goldwater said.

Too often, Goldwater said, "this administration has bypassed our NATO partners to deal directly and unilaterally with the Soviet Union."

"Our hot line to Moscow is an unfortunate symbol of this. It suggests secret conversations, deals, unilateral negotiations in matters that concern and should involve all our partner in freedom," Goldwater said.

"I pledge that as president, our NATO allies will be given the opportunity to hook into our hot line, either directly or by diplomatic process."

2 Withdraw in Coffelt Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two state Supreme Court justices announced Monday that they would not take part in considering Kenneth Coffelt's appeal of a ruling that he cannot run for attorney general.

Pulaski Circuit Court held that Coffelt, a Little Rock lawyer, cannot run as an independent candidate in November on the basis of a petition containing 75 signatures.

Associate Justice Sam Robinson and Frank Holt are the two who will not hear the appeal. Robinson cited personal reasons, and Holt gave as reasons the fact that he is a candidate in November and that when he was attorney general, he ruled on a similar case.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, who Coffelt is trying to run against, held that an independent candidate must submit a petition with 46,214 signatures.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus is expected to name special judges to take the places of Robinson and Holt.

The rice crop is nearing harvest and government forces in the area 275 miles northeast of Saigon are trying to keep as much of it as possible out of Communist hands.

Latest reports said the government lost three killed and 16 captured in the sweep. The operation is continuing.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - CBS' high command must be disappointed today if it was looking for jokes and snappy patter from its new convention-covering team of Robert Trout and Roger Mudd.

The successors to Walter Cronkite, making their debuts in the key positions on the CBS team, proved earnest, proficient, highly professional. But sprightly? No.

During the 90 minutes before the convention was gavelled to order their main jobs were handling the news traffic and saying, "and now let's go down to the floor and our correspondent."

The floor reporters of all networks who looked like perspiring Martians in their electronic rigs, were like terriers worrying a bone as they concentrated on the only two subjects fraught with any suspense at all: the Alabama and Mississippi seating fight and the mystery of President Johnson's choice of a vice presidential nominee. After a while, repetition of questions and evasive answers began to pall.

ABC in its effort to add some humor was headed by Eric Sevareid, whose occasional thoughts are clarifying, down-to-earth and whose remarks are often funny. Harry Resner, too, struck light notes adroitly.

ABC, in its effort to add some levity to the sober-sided and intelligent coverage of Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan introduced comedian George Gobel as a political commentator but Lonesome George must have gotten his signals mixed. He interviewed the convention hall's lady organizer. His commercials are funnier.

Huntley and Brinkley, the ratings champs, headed NBC's smooth, well-organized coverage. Brinkley's greatest talent is his ability to pull together unusual, unexpected bits of information.

The networks are so highly competitive, scurrying around frantically interviewing every his home in the Graves Chapel Community near Lockesburg, Sunday, August 23.

Survivors include: his wife, Mrs. Ella Calvin; seven children, Mrs. Fern Scott and Mrs. Flossie Calvin of Washington, D. C., Booker T. Calvin of Flint, Mich., Elmer Calvin of Oakland, Calif.; Mrs. Myrtle Smith of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Bernice Bluford of Blue Island, Ill.; and Mrs. Mary Queen Crosslin of Chicago; seventeen grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Gracie Paunley of Graves Chapel.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Jones Funeral Home of Texarkana.

State H-D Council Meeting

The agent along with seven delegates from the county left Wednesday morning to attend the State Home Demonstration Council Meeting in Hot Springs. The meeting will be held at the National Baptist Hotel in Hot Springs August 26-28.

The theme for the meeting is "Enriching Our Lives Through Community Development."

The delegates to attend from the county are as follows: Mrs. Ellen Draper, council president; Mrs. Rhoda Jones, Mrs. Clara B. Young from McCaskill Club; Mrs. Hester Witherspoon, Mrs. Amanda Johnson, Southeast Club; Mrs. Janie Wilson, Belvins Club; and Mrs. Pearlina Cheatham from Mars Hill Club.

SHORT RIBS

By Frank O'Neal

BRAVO BRAND By Nelson C. Nye

Copyright 1964 Nelson C. Nye. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Although the young woman told Frank Ives nothing, she arranged to meet him later. Then Ives runs into a herd of cattle being driven by men suspiciously at night.

explosive, the younger man's wild eyes considered Ives darkly. They looked as hard as twin bullets.

"As a matter of fact," Ives said, "if you're talking about that Terrapin badge packer I'm out here to duck him. I smoked a couple of his deputies. He gives me till daylight to get out of the country."

IX

Just as Ives was warning in to it—maybe half a mile later—beginning to catch his second wind and hunt a place to duck out, a pair of riders lapped up and cut him loose of the drive.

Like themselves, because of the dust, he had his neckerchief up across the bridge of his nose. With cold shivers digging into his spine and with his hands well away from his waist he pulled up, glaring, determined to play this bluff to the limit.

"What," he yelled, "are you tryin' to do!"

It was all he had time for. The shorter of the pair, leaning wordless toward him, dug a gun in his ribs and the other, crowding in from the opposite side, jerked the rag from Ives' face.

"Thought so!" he snarled. "I knowed we hadn't no yeller hosses with us at the start of this deal!"

The herd was still streaming past when this jasper reached out and lifted Ives' six-shooter. It was still pretty dark but, away from the dust and this close to the fellow, despite his muffled face Ives could see that he was young and plainly half minded to finish this right here.

Ives heard the hammer go back and said hurriedly: "Just a minute—this ain't what you think! I got caught up by your critters."

The two masks swapped glances. "It looked like to me," the young cow mover said, "you was moving them cattle."

"Well, I was doing what I could. What I mean, here was work an' me hunting a job. And that's the plain truth."

"Truth sometimes wears some funny faces," the shorter guy offered, prodding Ives harder with the snout of his pistol. "You smell like a Renwick hardcase to me!"

Lank, saddle-drawn, wiry and public figure in sight, that viewers sometimes feel they are missing the convention itself.

Monday night the speeches of New Jersey's Gov. Richard Hughes and Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. were largely ignored by all three networks and two of them skipped the opening prayer and flag ceremonies.

No one after that said anything for a spell.

They caught up with the herd. Alex presently drifted back to confer low-voiced with the kid out of earshot. Ives took down his rope and found a hole in the line of hazers. It was like old times, working cow brutes again.

The east began to lighten. How far they had come Ives had no idea. The herd was swinging due north now, cramped by point riders and flankers up ahead, toward the dark gut of what looked like a rock-ribbed canyon angling up into higher country.

Enephalitis War Raging at Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston has recorded 179 suspected encephalitis cases and the city health officer says a possibility exists that a major epidemic may occur.

Seventeen deaths have been attributed to the disease in the last 30 days.

As the number of suspected cases grew, the geographical spread of the disease—carried by mosquitoes—widened over the city.

"There is nothing like the concentration toward the center of the city that we saw in the early reports," Dr. C. A. Pigford, city health officer, said.

Free insecticides were to be distributed to all citizens at the city's fire stations today for use on private premises. Spraying and fogging of public areas was stepped up.

Mayor Louie Welch asked citizens to take their own containers to the closest fire station for the free insecticide and instructions on how to use it.

The city also prepared to buy a new fogging machine. Reinforcement of mosquito-control crews arrived and Dr. Pigford appealed to the county's medical men for information on their cases of encephalitis, popularly known as sleeping sickness, and meningitis.

Dr. Pigford explained that the additional 79 cases, reported since the presence of the disease became known last Friday, were reported largely by private physicians.

Dodgers Drop Giants; Braves Defeat Phils

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Howie Reed doesn't win very often. In fact, his pitching victories are so well spaced out he might even pass for a Met.

But when the 27-year-old right-hander does get around to winning one, he does it in convincing fashion — and he makes the hitting hurt.

Reed, who hadn't won in the majors since 1958, got around to it again Tuesday night. He fashioned a six-hitter — with ninth inning help — for the Los Angeles Dodgers and beat San Francisco's struggling Giants 3-1.

The loss dropped the Giants into third place and left them 6½ games behind National League leading Philadelphia, a deficit that becomes more imposing each day.

Cincinnati took over second place, rapping the New York Mets 7-2 behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Purkey while Philadelphia took a 7-5 licking from Milwaukee for the Braves' second straight over the league leaders.

Houston held off Chicago 5-4 and Lou Brock's 13th inning homer sealed St. Louis' 7-6 verdict over Pittsburgh in the other games.

In the American League, Cleveland beat the leading Baltimore Orioles 5-3, Chicago edged Minnesota 1-0, New York defeated Washington 4-1, Detroit whipped Boston 11-6 and the Los Angeles Angels downed Kansas City 5-3.

Reed, whose last major league triumph was a 2-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox while pitching with Kansas City Sept. 23, 1958, was in top form against the Giants.

He allowed only five hits through the first seven innings, gave up another in the eighth, then weakened in the ninth. With one out, he issued walks to Chuck Hill and Matty Alou.

Ron Ferranowski came on to get one out and Bob Miller was called in to strike out Willie Mays and end the game. It was only Los Angeles' fourth victory over San Francisco in 15 games this year, but it left the Giants with an overwhelming task in attempting to overtake Philadelphia.

For example, if the Phillies play anywhere near their current pace, they'd wind up with 98 victories. To catch them, the Giants would have to win 28 of their remaining 36 games.

The Mets got two runs — on Ron Hunt's homer — before Purkey got anyone out, but he shut them out the rest of the way. Frank Robinson doubled in two runs and Deron Johnson doubled in three more for all the working room Purkey needed.

The Braves built an early lead on homers by Eddie Mathews and Lee Maye, then held off Philadelphia's late rush. Braves right-hander Tony Cloninger held the Phillies to three hits over the first seven innings, but the Phils chased him in the eighth, scoring three runs on two singles, a fielders choice and Johnny Callison's homer.

St. Louis had blown a 4-0 lead, then came from behind 6-4 before Brock settled their long struggle with Pittsburgh with his homer. Veteran Snooky Burgess drove in two Pittsburgh runs with a pinch single in the top of the 12th, but the Cards matched them in the bottom of the inning.

Bob Aspromonte drove in one run with a double, another with a sacrifice fly and scored a third as Houston jumped on rookie John Flavin for five runs in the first 2-13 innings, then held on against the Cubs.

Reasons for Lofty Perch of Orioles

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There are a number of reasons for the lofty American League perch currently enjoyed by the Baltimore Orioles. Most are apparent.

There's the clutch hitting of third baseman Brooks Robinson and the slugging of now injured Boog Powell and rookie outfielder Sam Bowens.

The spectacular rise of 19-year-old bonus pitcher Wally Bunker.

The stonewall defense of the infield led by Robinson and shortstop Luis Aparicio.

The team's ability to win a vast majority of the close games.

But the current success of the Orioles in their determined bid to nail down their first championship since Baltimore's return to the major leagues in 1954 is traced deeper than that which appears on the surface.

It is gleaned from something said by skipper Hank Bauer a top candidate for Manager of the Year honors. It is deduced from some words from Robinson, in line for the Most Valuable Player award.

"Pitching, especially relief, and defense have been our strength so far," said Bauer, "but the reason we're in first place is something much bigger than what any figures or records can possibly show."

"The biggest thing about this club is that they are not playing as individuals. They are playing as a team. They sacrifice themselves. They help each other."

As a team, the Orioles are batting in the vicinity of only .250. Six clubs have hit more home runs. But Baltimore is a first.

The figures accentuate the lack of trend toward a star system. Only Robinson among regulars is hitting over .300. Only Powell and Robinson have hit 20 or more home runs. But the Orioles can score when it counts — they've won 29 of 39 games decided by one run.

"The guys are hustling and not making mistakes," said Bauer. "And they pick each other up. Another thing they don't need to be prodded and pushed."

"We don't have any superstars but everybody is doing his job. They grind it out each day — 3-2 4-2 and 2-1."

"In a way these guys remind me of the Yankee team I used to play with. They don't say much but you can tell that they feel they can win."

"Do I think we'll win the pennant? Well it's going to be a three-team race right down to the wire."

The Oriole players unfettered by managerial diplomacy and caution emphatically believe they will win.

"No doubt about it," smiled pitching star Milt Pappas — as he knocked on wood.

Superlatives Run Out for Mr. Mantle

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — They've just about run out of superlatives for Mickey Mantle. Even Whitey Ford, his New York teammate and best friend, shrugs his shoulders and says: "What can you say new about him? It's already been said 100 times."

But Mantle never runs out of heroics. Each day it seems the crippled star comes through with a standout performance that either starts a rally, keeps one going or breaks up the game.

Mantle breathed new life into the third-place Yankees Tuesday night and had Manager Yogi Berra once more talking hopefully of a pennant.

It was Mickey's bases-loaded double for two runs in the eighth inning that overcame a 1-0 Washington advantage and led to 4-1 Yankee triumph. Sweetening the victory was Cleveland's comeback 5-3 victory over Baltimore, trimming the Orioles' first-place lead over the third-place Yankees to four games.

"We're just a different team with Mick in there," said Ford

Packers Have Whip Out for Loss of Title

GREEN BAY
By JAK MAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi has the whip out this year. Aroused by two defeats at the hands of the Chicago Bears, and loss of the NFL title, Lombardi is driving his Green Bay Packers as they never have been driven before.

"The first Bear game last year was the biggest disappointment of my career," said Lombardi at the training camp at St. Norbert College. "We couldn't have beaten them in the second game with blackjacks, but we should have won the first."

"We are looking forward to this year. I have been driving the boys hard. We will be in physical condition. But the big thing is pride in your work. You never know about that until the games start."

Paul Hornung was the first to feel the sting of Lombardi's hard approach of 1964. The Golden Boy, reinstated after a one-year suspension for betting on games was ordered to report in April. Running up and down the steps of the Packers' stadium puffed off the pounds so that Hornung goes into the season at 212 pounds, six below his weight in 1962.

"We'll sink or swim with Hornung," said Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Packers. "Paul is in fine condition mentally and physically. The rest is up to him."

Lombardi may throw three running backs at National Football League opposition in some games. Tom Moore, who did a fine job as Hornung's replacement, has been worked as a slot back or flanker.

Jim Taylor appears to have recovered completely from the hepatitis that handicapped him during the early games last season. With Taylor booming up the middle and Hornung and Moore to run to the outside, the Packers' ground attack should be the best in the league.

Bart Starr will operate a ball-control offense, copied so successfully by the Bears last year. Bart has fine targets in Max McGee at split end, tight end Ron Kramer and Boyd Dowler at flanker but also likes to throw to his backs more than most quarterbacks. Hornung, Moore and Taylor all are good receivers.

Lombardi thinks he has come up with a real hot prospect in Dennis Claidge, a rookie quarterback from Nebraska.

Originally Claidge was drafted as a running back but he has thrown the ball so effectively that Lombardi now says, "We may groom him for quarterback in a couple of years." Zeke Bratkowski is the veteran backup man for Starr.

The front offensive line will be the same except for Bob Skoronski, formerly a tackle, who takes over Jim Ringo's old job at center. Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer are the guards and Norm Masters and Forrest Gregg the tackles.

Lee Roy Caffey, who came from Philadelphia in the deal for Earl Gros and Ringo, is giving Dan Currie a battle for a linebacker job. Ray Nitschke is set at middle linebacker and Dave Robinson on the right side.

The front four of Willie Davis, Dave (Hawg) Hanner, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge is intact. So is the deep backfield defense of Herb Adderley and Jesse Whitenton at the corners and Hank Gremminger and Willie Wood at safety.

Boxing Group May Outlaw Liston

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A majority of the early arrivals to the World Boxing Association convention this week favor outlawing the proposed Liston-Clay rematch.

Pre-convention talks with delegates also indicate there will be a floor fight over the WBA's suspension of Sonny Liston after he lost the world heavyweight boxing title to Cassius Clay.

James E. Deskin, executive secretary of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, said Tuesday he plans to take the floor at the convention Thursday and challenge the WBA's suspension of Liston. He maintains that the WBA did not have the authority to suspend Liston until a member boxing commission did so.

"whether he's 100 per cent or only 50 per cent."

"He could hardly run over the weekend in Boston but all the guys wanted him in the lineup."

Mantle, who re-injured his left knee in Baltimore, missed the entire series in Chicago where the Yankees dropped all four to the White Sox. Still hobbling, he returned to the lineup in Boston and, in his second start, got the Yankees back on the winning trail with a two-run homer. He homered again the next day when the Yankees won 4-3.

Hope Day Is Saturday at Trav Field

Saturday, August 29th has been designated as Hope Day at the American Legion Little World Series which opened Monday at Little Rock Travelers' Field. The Semi-Finals game will be played at 2:00 p. m. Pre-game tickets will be $1. and still may be obtained from Leslie Huddleston Post 12 at Joe's City Bakery, Jacks News Stand, Roy Anderson Insurance Agency or Mr. B. C. Hollis, 409 South Elm Street.

The baseball program is one of four of the Youth Programs sponsored by the American Legion and the pay off comes when a player such as Brooks Robinson of Little Rock makes the big league. Brooks came up through the ranks of Legion baseball and is now with the Baltimore Orioles as pitcher.

The Legion urges the public to support this program by purchasing tickets and attending the game on Saturday, August, 29th.

Arkansas in Binge for Extra Bases

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Arkansas used extra-base hitting to shelve Salt Lake City 7-5 in a Pacific Coast League baseball game here Tuesday night, giving the Travelers a doubleheader sweep.

The Travelers won the early, short game in one extra inning, 4-1.

In the second game, Arkansas scored three runs in the top of the sixth inning on a walk to Adolpho Phillips, who scored on a double by Norm Gigon, who went to third on Fred Walters' single. Gigon and Walters, who had batted for Howie Goss, scored on a double by Bill Sorrell.

Doubles by Sorrell, Bill Heath, a triple by Costen Shockley and Phillips' homer got Arkansas four first-inning runs.

In the first game, Shockley socked his first homer of the Bees, breaking a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning. Phillips doubled, Gigon singled and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Walters for the insurance runs.

First Game
Arkansas 001 000 0-4 6 0
Salt Lake 001 000 0-1 7 3

Jury to Meet
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert D. Smith said Tuesday that the federal Grand Jury for Eastern Arkansas would meet here next Tuesday in regular semi-annual session. Smith said 45 to 50 routine cases would be presented to the jury.

Liston was suspended for not coming out of his corner at the beginning of the seventh round of his fight with Clay last February in Miami Beach. He complained of a shoulder injury.

Lopez Betting Series Ticket on Pizarro

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Pizarro has been a potential 20-game winner since he started throwing rocks in Santurce, P.R., 11 years ago.

At Lopez is betting a World Series ticket that the White Sox left-hander makes the charmed circle in 1964.

Pizarro pitched Chicago to within a game of first place Tuesday night when he blanked Minnesota 1-0 on a masterful five-hitter. The victory was No. 17, tops in the American League, for the 27-year-old fireballer and the shutout lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 2.00.

He has never been this close to the 20-victory mark before, though tagged "another Bob Feller" before he had thrown a pitch in anger in the major leagues.

Juan started the 1964 Winter League season as the Santurce club's batboy but wound up on the pitching staff when he discovered he could fling rocks harder than the team's pitchers could throw baseballs.

Two years later he was Milwaukee's prize bargain, striking out 318 batters for the Braves' Jacksonville club in the old Sally League. The Braves had paid Santurce $35,000 for his contract, but they never got a return on their investment.

Pizarro and the Milwaukee management suffered through four seasons with equally unimpressive results.

Finally, in 1966, the Braves traded him to the White Sox and Lopez made him reclamation project No. 1. Pizarro has been a winner ever since.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Cleveland upended league-leading Baltimore 5-3; third place New York topped Washington 4-1; Los Angeles defeated Kansas City 5-3 and Detroit slugged Boston 11-6.

National League-leading Philadelphia was beaten by Milwaukee 7-5; Cincinnati trimmed the New York Mets 7-2; St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 7-6 in 13 innings; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat San Francisco 3-1 and Houston edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4.

Pizarro, 17-6, pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the top of the ninth before the White Sox broke through lefty Dick Stigman in the bottom of the inning.

Stigman checked the Sox on three hits until Jim Landis led off the ninth with a single. One out later, Floyd Robinson singled. Bill Skowron lined out before Ron Hansen broke it up with a run-scoring hit to left.

It was the 10th complete game and fourth shutout for Pizarro, who was a spring holdout until March 25, but got off to the best start of his career, reeling off five successive victories.

The Indians struck for five runs in the eighth inning, the last three on Bob Chance's two-run homer and Leon Wagner's solo shot, to overtake Baltimore.

Orioles starter Milt Pappas gave up Cleveland's fourth hit of the game, a double to Tito Francona, and walked Woody Held before being replaced by Harvey Haddix in the eighth.

Max Alvis' pinch single scored one run, Chico Salmon singled, loading the bases, and the second run crossed while Dick Howser was grounding into a double play. Then Chance and Wagner connected back-to-back.

Luis Aparicio's two-run homer had helped the Orioles to a 3-0 lead.

Whitey Ford won his first game since July 15 when the Yankees came from behind with four runs in the eighth. Mickey Mantle's third hit of the night, a two-run double, was the key blow.

Ford worked eight innings, leaving for a pinch hitter in the Yankees' winning rally. Al Downing nailed down the victory by fanning the side in the ninth.

Dean Chance picked up his 15th victory of the season as the Angels did all their scoring in the fifth inning, with singles by Bobby Knoop, Albie Pearson and Lou Clinton, plus a bases-loaded walk and wild pitch delivering the runs.

Bob Lee relieved Chance in the seventh, when the Athletics scored their last two runs on Doc Edwards' single, Bert Campaneris' triple and a pinch single by Manny Jimenez.

Don Demeter's three-run homer in the sixth paced Detroit's 15-hit attack against the Red Sox. Demeter's 18th circuit broke a 6-6 tie and the Tigers wrapped it up with two more in the seventh after Carl astremski's two-base error opened the gate.

Dick McAuliffe also homered for Detroit while Dick Stuart, Ed Bressoud and Bob Tillman connected for the Red Sox.

Duck Hunter Gets 5 More Shooting Days

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas duck hunters will have five more shooting days this season and can blast at their quarry from sunrise to sunset instead of having to halt at noon.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, in setting up regulations for the upcoming season Monday, retained the same bag limits as hunters obeyed last year — four per day, with the possession limit eight.

Duck season opens Nov. 25 and ends Jan. 3. The bag limit may not include more than two wood ducks, two mallards and two canvasbacks or two redheads or one of each.

Possession limit may not include more than two wood ducks, four mallards, two canvasbacks or two redheads or one of each.

The commission also set three gun deer seasons, Nov. 9-14, Dec. 14-19, and Dec. 28-Jan. 1.

Only bucks may be shot in the first two seasons. Areas where either sex deer may be taken will be announced by the commission after its November meeting.

I hold it for indisputable, that the first duty of a State is to see that every child therein shall be well housed, clothed, fed, and educated, till it attain years of discretion. But in order to the effecting this the Government must have an authority over the people of which we now do not so much as dream.

— John Ruskin

Writing 100 years ago Ruskin saw clearly that even when Government had done the most that a liberty-loving people would permit it to do there still remained a big "do it yourself" job for the people themselves.

Government may support the public schools, employ fine teaching staffs, and furnish textbooks — but the maximum effort for the education of our boys and girls still depends upon the co-operation of the students and their parents at home.

By co-operation we mean that old-fashioned phrase "home work" — the little extra, above and beyond the classroom, that puts the "E" in Education.

We salute the 1964-65 Hempstead and Nevada County Essay Contests and urge the cooperation of all students and parents — for a Better Educated Youth and a Greater America.

gister Thursday and Friday, August 27 and 28. This applies only to Junior-Senior High School.

The Hope High School Bookstore will open on Thursday, August 27, at 9:00 a.m.

Party for Your New Classmates

Everyone loves sandwiches at a party. Hot or cold they're easy to fix and serve. Make your party special with petal sandwiches simulating the look of lovely flowers.

Sandwich posies can be made with any fillings you choose but you might enjoy serving frankfurters for your party fillip. For 8 servings, take 8 frankfurters, 8 square slices of process American cheese, 8 large sweet pickles, 4 hard cooked eggs, 2 branches of celery and 8 crisp leaves of any salad green.

Cut your frankfurter rolls in half lengthwise. Spread each half with butter. Next spread with mustard. On the bottom half of the frankfurter rolls place 1/2 cup of ham filling.

Overlap cheese slices to fit on top of the ham spread. Now spread the cheese with a dab of mayonnaise and dot with slices of pickle. Put the top of the rolls in place. Press the sandwiches together. Slice into five diagonal strips. Arrange cut side up in a circle to form the petal of flower. Next cut a little piece from two end pieces so that they lie flat. Fill the hole with half of a hard boiled egg sprinkled with paprika. You can select a piece of celery for the stem plus a crisp green salad leaf of romaine to complete the whole effect.

Canada exports some 90 per cent of its nickel production.

Dost Thou Love Life? Then Do Not Squander Time, For That Is The Stuff Life Is Made Of.

— Benjamin Franklin

The above quotation from Benjamin Franklin is just one of the many famous statements that he made in his long and useful lifetime.

He was a man who knew the meaning of Thrift. This advice, "A Man may, if he know not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone," from Mr. Franklin is just as wise today as it was in his day.

... and this famous quotation from Franklin, "An investment in knowledge always pays the best dividends."

Knowledge, of course, begins with education. This education takes time, but the final results is rewarding beyond means. We urge the boys and girls of this area to put forth a maximum effort to secure the best education that they can.

Let us also urge the high school students of Hempstead and Nevada Counties to enter the Star's Essay Writing Contests.

When Your Teenager Starts Using Family Car Look Out

Only fifteen years ago, the teenager's use of the family auto was somewhat limited. If the boy or girl lived a long distance from school, or lived in an area with inclement weather he was allowed use of the family car for school transportation. But most teenagers used shoe-leather for their means of transportation. The automobile was an adult means of transportation. Few teenagers actually owned their own cars.

But in the last few years the young adult has acquired with his own fashions, his music and his own literature, his own car. If there is any doubt of this, look around. You'll find many sports cars parked by the old high school and jammed into what was once the school tennis court.

Not only have the new models been designed for the teenager, but auto ads have been edited with a teen-age vocabulary. You will find words such as "sportscar buffs, foreign jobs, swinger, no hedge, stripped down and hottest" in recently issued sports-car ads. All these words are associated with the adolescent vocabulary, for the adolescent is a major market.

With this in mind, parents should make their best efforts to drive home the need for safe driving.

Parents should also emphasize that a good safe driver must have a safe automobile. A safety check of an auto is a necessity and should include checking to see that the brakes, steering, tires, shock absorbers, transmission power plant, exhaust system, light, horn and windshield wipers respond adequately to every demand.

Parents must not assume that their children qualify as safe drivers without full knowledge of the car's performance limitations in critical situations.

Today many teenagers own their own cars and must, in every respect, qualify as safe drivers. Parents are obligated to help them in every respect. Today, care and competence in operating an automobile is a necessity!

Taking Stand on Teens Social Life

In self-defense and in desperation, parents are banding together to establish codes of teen behavior. These social codes are worked out under the joint auspices of the P.T.A., the Church, the "Y", and other mutually respected community services. Codes cover matters of dress, dating, drinking, driving, telephone behavior and parties. Here are a few of the recommendations:

All teenage parties should be attended by responsible adults. No party crashing allowed. Control of numbers and selectivity is essential. If a party is crashed don't hesitate to call the law. Young people should return home from the function direct unless otherwise specifically authorized by a parent.

Life can be easier both for parent and adolescents when they know what is expected of them. Establishing definite rules of conduct is considered a great step forward in good parent-teen relationship.

With the numerous encyclopedias on the market, which one do you buy? The solution, says Dr. Lowell A. Martin, Editorial Director of Grolier Incorporated, the largest encyclopedia publisher is "to choose for the particular student's educational situation involved." Grolier publishes Encyclopedia International, and the Book of Knowledge, among others.

Dr. Martin points out that no individual set is right for everyone. Therefore you should choose according to age level. Reference sets cover primary — to college grades. Check on up-to-dateness. Besides offering complete data, the reference work should also stimulate the intellectual curiosity of the student. It should also encourage him to further research on his own.

A good reference work should provide comprehensive bibliographies and should be clearly and well written. Check the index volume. If it doesn't provide a fast, clear way to find what you're looking for, then all the knowledge is of little use.

It's hard for your pet dog to understand why you suddenly desert him every morning to go to school in the bus or an auto. Many dogs will chase the bus or car, sometimes to their doom. It's up to you to teach Fido that chasing cars is a dangerous habit.

Spring Hill Classes Set for Sept. 3

Spring Hill's school system will actually start activities on Wednesday, September 2 with a bus drivers meeting scheduled for 8 a.m. and a teachers meeting at 9 a.m., according to Supt. Clyde Mosier.

Registration of all 12 grades will be held the morning of September 3. There will be no activity that afternoon. The first full day of school will be on Tuesday, September 8 as Labor Day will be observed.

Mrs. Herbert Elam will teach the first and second grades; Mrs. Jerry McPherson the third and fourth grades; Mrs. Bill Stewart the fifth and sixth grades.

High school personnel includes Supt. Mosier; Gerlad Pinkerton, Winston Vanderslice, Coach Harvey Vann, Mrs. Joe Harmon, Mrs. J. D. Collum and Mrs. John Ross.

An easy-to-keep hairdo for school and play is the medium length page-boy with wide, curving waves. . . another style that is ideal for children is short, fluffy, loose curls, brushed up and tied with a ribbon, and bordered with neat bangs.

For young party do's, you'll want an extra-pretty style — if your child has medium length hair, catch all the top hair in a rubber band; place a piece of cotton around the rubber band, cover the cotton with hair to form a poufy topknot, and decorate with a garland of flowers. Charming!

Orange Signs Prevent Accidents

Many tragic accidents happen because drivers simply don't see the school-warning signs; or they see them so late they can't stop their cars in time to avoid hitting a child.

A total of 1500 children 5-14 years old were struck and killed by motor vehicles in 1962. Many more were injured.

Several cities and counties, some 600, are now using eye-catching fluorescent school signs to grab a driver by his sense of sight and shake him into alertness.

The material on the signs is the same as that used as markings on military aircraft.

A privately-financed research project found that a driver can see a fluorescent sign twice as far as an ordinary painted sign. By present indications, fluorescent school signs will be coloring practically every street corner in America some day.

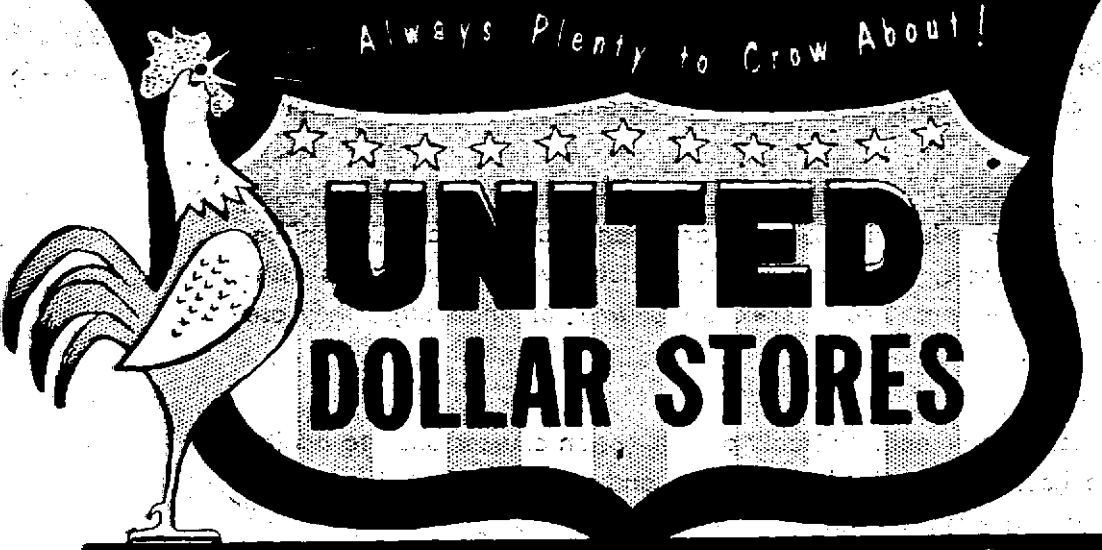

Whatever the kind of signs, the old dictum still holds: Slow down.

Harris Spent $15,978

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., said Monday he spent $15,978 in his successful campaign for nomination in the July 28 Democratic primary election. Harris and two others field statements of campaign expenses with Secretary of State Kelly Bryant.

Joe Hubbard of Russellville, an unsuccessful candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, said he spent $1,737; and Forrest Jeffrey of Batesville, who lost a state senate race, said he spent $795.

Cale to Open Schools on August 31

Cale Schools will open Monday August 31, at 9:00 a.m. The students will be enrolled and then dismissed. The faculty will then have a workshop the remainder of the day and Tuesday. Classes will resume Wednesday morning, September 2 at 8:30.

The following staff of teachers has been hired for the school term 1964-65:

Mrs. Reid White, 1st and 2nd; Mrs. Bill Oxner, 3rd and 4th; Mr. N. C. Bryan, 5th and 6th; Mr. Clark Moseley, vocational agriculture; Mr. Glyndon Franklin, coach and mathematics; Miss Ava Lou Garrett, English and social studies; Miss Velma Lee Jones, librarian and commercial; Mrs. Betty Barnett, home economics and Lester H. Macumber, science and superintendent.

First High School

The first public high school established in the U. S. was founded in 1821 in Boston, Massachusetts. It was called the English Classical School, later changed to English High School.

By 1860, 300 high schools were already established in this country as part of the public school system.

Prescott to Open on September 1

According to Principal Kenneth Ledbetter the Prescott public schools will open on full regular schedule on Wednesday, September 2.

The school will operate on a half day schedule on the first day which is Tuesday, September 1.

The annual teachers workshop will be held on August 31, Mr. Ledbetter said.

Guernsey to Open Schools on August 31

Oris Thornton, superintendent of Guernsey Public Schools, has announced that the beginning of the 1964-65 school year for the Guernsey Schools will be August 31.

Buses will make their regular runs at the usual time and school will be in session for one-half day with all students returned home by noon that day. Registration will begin on Monday, August 31. There will be a general assembly of all students in grades seven through twelve beginning at 8:45 and each student will report to their home room after the assembly is completed to complete their registration.

All pupils entering the first grade will need to bring a birth certificate and also show proof of a successful vaccination for smallpox. These requirements are part of Arkansas school laws. Pupils entering the first grade shall be six years of age on or before October 1st.

Cafeterias will be open on September 1, the first day of class work. The price of school lunches will be 20 cents for students and 25 cents for adults. The school day will begin at 8:35 a.m. and end at 3:15 p.m. There will be no school on Labor Day, September 7th.

There will be a meeting of the faculty on Friday, August 28th, beginning at 9:00 a.m. Faculty members for the 1964-65 term are Don Gilbert, Principal, coach and social studies; Mrs. O. H. Bristow, first and second grades; Mrs. S. W. McHenry, Parker Rogers, fifth and sixth grades;

Mrs. Jessie Jones, French and English; Bob Richmond, math and science, Mrs. Elsie Huckabee, English and public school music; Mrs. Vivian Powell, commercial.

Bus drivers are Don Gilbert, Wesley Jones, and Paul Day. Cafeteria workers are Mrs. Irma Thomas and Mrs. Hazel

Brogues Win in a Walk

The Brogue, sturdy oxford, reports the Shoe Fashion Service of the Leather Industries, is setting the pace on campuses this year.

The classic more-shoe in 1964 will still have its traditional good looks and rugged wearability but with a less-shoe feel.

The Brogue, will come in true brown, black, greened tan, reddish brown and cordovan. Smooth leather will vie with textured leather pebble and heavy grains. A popular variation with college men is the classic saddle oxford.

Hopson. Custodian is Wesley Jones.

Guernsey Negro elementary school personnel includes Herman D. Johnson, principal and fourth, fifth, and sixth grades; Mrs. Florine Lawson, first, second, and third grades; Mrs. Fannie Woods, cafeteria worker, Elved Langston, custodian, Elbert Smith and Willie Lee Woods, bus drivers.

OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE

THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE

— John 8:32

The rights and freedoms guaranteed in the basic documents of our country, and secured by men who gave their lives to protect them, would be jeopardized if dictatorial control were imposed upon our search for truth. For, not only will knowing the truth make you free, you must be free in order to know the truth.

To find the truth, there must be free access to all facts related to a subject, and the mind must be trained to use the facts in drawing intelligent conclusions. An education in a free society opens the way to all knowledge.

In our country we have such freedom of education: Schools are open to all, rich and poor alike. Schools are supervised by the will of the people, with each school district governed by parents within that district. And, most important, students are free to seek any source for knowledge; they are free to think.

And, in our country, education need never end. Not only are education courses open to adults, but public libraries, fine inexpensive books, specialized magazines, and your own fact-filled newspaper all offer important knowledge and a way to truth.

A nation whose people are educated to think for themselves and will do so, is a nation of strength — a bulwark of freedom. It is, then, not only our privilege to have an education, and to think freely and intelligently — it is our duty to do so; for freedom rests on truth. This opportunity we are given to know truth is our Right — it is our American Heritage.

Patmos School Opens Full Time Sept. 8

Superintendent Robert A. May announced today that Patmos school buses for high school students will run regular schedule September 3, and will return them by noon.

September 4, elementary students will register and will be out by noon.

No school Monday, Labor Day Tuesday, September 3, a full day schedule begins.

Mrs. Dorothy Martin will teach first and second grades. Mrs. Ruth Tyler will teach third and fourth grades and Robert May will teach fifth and sixth.

Mrs. Earline Vines will be head book and Joe Greene and Robert Rogers are the bus drivers.

The youngster who leaves for school each day after having eaten a nourishing breakfast stands a better chance of becoming a good student than the one who skips or skimps on this meal.

Killed in Collision

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Sherman Meek, 32, of Hot Springs was killed in a head-on collision Monday on Arkansas 5, just outside Hot Springs. The sheriff's department said the driver of the other car, Roy Gilkey, 44, of Danville and his wife, Ruby Nell, 42, were in serious condition at a hospital here. Meek was driving alone.

Willisville Schools Set for August 28

The Willisville Public Schools will open for registration at 8:30 a.m. Friday, August 28, and will close in time for the children to be home for lunch.

The first full day of classes will begin at 8:20 a.m. Monday, August, 31, and lunch will be served in the lunchroom.

No child will be eligible for entrance into the first grade unless he is at least six years old on or before October 1, 1964. The first grade child must also present a birth certificate and have had a vaccination.

Thursday night, August 27, at 7:30 p.m., there will be a P.T.A. potluck supper at the school lunchroom. All interested persons, and especially school patrons, are invited to come and enjoy good meal and meet the new teachers.

Safety Tips Always Aid School Tots

According to the National Safety Council, every minute of every day a motor vehicle accident results in death or injury to someone. Excessive speed is involved in one out of every three fatal automobile accidents.

First-hand experience is in itself a most potent learning technique. But experiencing a motor vehicle accident is rather an extreme way to learn the rules!

Hearing Aid for Child Important

It is estimated that more than 3,000,000 children in the U.S. have some defect in their hearing. A majority of these same children have some eyesight problem. Glasses with hearing aids "invisibly" attached are now available for children.

No one wants to be caught "dead to rights." By observing highway safety rules, many accidents can be avoided.

"Fair play" appeals to a child. If traffic rules are explained as a natural evolvement of fair play, your youngster will respect the rules more readily. Streets at the proper places and with full consideration of traffic fewer accidents would happen. Children should also be taught to face traffic and walk on the left side of a road when there is no sidewalk. If a few safety rules are observed, accidents can be reduced in your community.

Always wear glasses when driving if you need them. Be sure that your car mirror or mirrors give you as full rear view vision as possible. If the mirrors are inadequate for this purpose, replace them.

A Gifted Child Ready for Special Opportunities

Too often the gifted child is taken for granted — allowed to make out on his own, and frequently dissipate his unusual capabilities. They are more often than not limited to a school program which is geared to the average child.

With over-crowding being the rule in today's classroom, and with economic factors preventing our giving the gifted youngsters his academic due, the burden is increasingly on his parents. It is up to the parents, therefore, to create the climate, intellectual, spiritual and otherwise in which he can flourish.

Frightening? Don't let it be. You'll find it one of the most rewarding things you have ever done.

If you are not "gifted" naturally, you can develop the qualities to bring out the best in your child. Doting aunts and uncles, fond friends, foster-parents — all are invited to check these pointers):

Do you know when to draw the line on "encouraging" so that it does not become distorted into "pushing"?

Do you talk to your child, and not at him, or down to him? Often we grown-ups tend to show our uneasiness this way, especially with a precocious child).

Are you clever about directing his activities?

Are you honest with him, particularly in regard to his work?

Do you avoid being over-critical — and the other extreme, too matter-of-fact?

Do you encourage him to make friends, even by the trial-and-error method?

Do you respond to the challenge ge of being his parent (or guardian) and let him know it, by your enthusiasm?

Are you willing to take the time, the energy, as well as the money, to provide him with creative materials, the right tools etc.?

Do you encourage your child to pace his own energies productively to be a self-starter, to learn to depend on his own resources?

Do you require discipline from him. Consideration for others' needs and wants?

Do you temper any impulse to expect too much of him?

Do you always remember he needs love, understanding, fun and all the other things as much, if not more than, his contemporaries?

Are you particularly careful in setting a good example for him?

Do you trust him to evaluate experiences of life, even his young life, without trying to influence him one way or another?

Do you try to stretch your own intellectual horizons, to keep up with him as he develops?

Do you give him as many reasons to love him as you possibly can?

Do you protect him from your desire to "show him off"?

Do you teach him to respect the abilities and the points-of-view of others?

Do you see that he has enough privacy, a place to think things out, to loaf, to dream, to work?

Major Causes of the Nation's Drop Out and the Flunk Outs

How can you estimate that your child will successfully graduate from the 12th grade without dropping out or flunking out? If recent drop-out and flunk-outs studies are any indication, a student in the 5th grade has only 2 out of 3 chances to get to high school and get his diploma. A harsh reality is the fact that children no were leaving school at an appalling rate of one million per year, thereby cutting off their chance for a better job, cutting their lifetime income potential severely and increasing the threat of unemployment. Because of these facts, every attention should be given to a stronger drop-out prevention program.

As compared to a drop-out's typical flunk-out student's causes are varied and complex; his academic failure can be turned into a pattern that is frequent and apparent. Though a flunk-out student's ability to succeed is rated as higher, more and more flunk-out students fail to survive because of immaturity, family pressure and social distractions. But simple cases of flunk-outs due to a physical or financial failure are few. For in time, as he realizes a need for greater successful achievement, the flunk-out student will return to school with confidence and subsequent desire to continue on the path to eventful academic success and personal fulfillment.

There are "warning signals" a parent should be alert to, from early grades on up. A typical drop-out student is retarded in his reading and math studies.

He is so far behind in these two subjects, no matter how hard he may try, he can't keep up with high school assignments. He might also be failing one or more subjects. Therefore, by the time he reaches the age of 16, his academic problems mount and he sees no easy escape from this constant failure but to drop-out of school.

His basic problem didn't develop just at the high school level. It should have been apparent in his 2nd or 3rd grades. If reading or arithmetic difficulties occur, the sooner you get help for him, the less chance of his dropping out of school later. A drop-out isn't inclined toward athletics or extra-curricular affairs. Socially, too, he feels inadequate. He lacks the interest which so readily ties young people to their school and classmates with loyalty and enthusiasm. Thus dwindle the chances of earning success and status for himself. There's much parents can do to develop youngsters' social finesse and athletic skills, encourage hobbies and other interest while he is still in elementary school. A dad who passes a football to his son, for backyard fun and a mom who greets his friends with a cheerful smile and cookies and milk, are already smoothing the path into high school completion.

A drop-out has no real goal or purpose in life. He sees no connection between his future life and what he's doing in school. He has no real idea of what he wants out of life except perhaps a car and pocket money. There is much a parent can do to help his child look toward the future, without falling into the trap of dictating his future. From the 1st grade on, parents should encourage by pointing his achievements at school and how they can affect his future success. A drop-out's parents, as a rule, don't realize the value of an education, for a large majority failed to complete high school themselves; many go only as far as the 6th grade. Typically, a child's attendance at school and what he accomplishes there is frequently considered unimportant.

There is much you, as a responsible parent, can do to help your youngster understand the value of an education. Send him off fresh and neat-looking every morning so he can feel at ease with his contemporaries. Encourage him to talk about his school day; participate in school-parent groups; treat his accomplishments and his problems with attentiveness. Discuss types of jobs and how he should best prepare for them; insist that his home work be done before watching TV or engaging in other recreation.

9806 Job Placements

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Employment Security Division said Monday it placed 9,806 persons in non-agricultural jobs during July. This was 761 less than the June total of 10,567, but there were 3,303 fewer job applications in July. The ESD said 9,144 persons filed claims for unemployment insurance during the last week in July, a decrease from the 9,416 reported in the last week in June.

Car Maintenance for Family Chauffeur, Which Mom Is

The best time to give your car a pre-winter check-up is after the Labor Day holiday. Since Dad is still busy with lawn and garden chores, the car's responsibility will no doubt fall on mother's shoulders, particularly since she is probably part of a car-pool carting school-age youngsters to and from various activities—to say nothing of marketing chores, etc.

Let's start with the trunk. Remove all remnants of summer fun gear—pack away until next summer. Next replace them with these precautionary winter weather aids: a small bucket of gravel or sand for traction on icy winter roads. Add a pair of gardener's gloves, small shovel, heavy boots and now you're ready to face the worst of cold alone. Those garden gloves fit easily over your driving gloves for spreading gravel or removing ice and snow from your tires when you're driving without your husband.

A renowned manufacturer of mufflers, suggests you remove summer paraphernalia such as sun-glasses from under the front seat, replace them with ice scraper, snow brush, winter driving gloves, graphite gun (for thawing frozen locks etc.) extra head-scarf, and a plastic squeeze bottle of water — the liquid detergent size. The bottle of water is insurance against the time your windshield washers go dry or get stuck by ice. A little glycerin added will keep it soluble. This is only an emergency measure as properly working wipers have no substitute.

Check the seat-belts. If they are the loose hanging type, they may be frayed at the doorline, weakened by closing doors, and weather exposure. Since your life may depend on them, check them often, or replace them with the new retractable type belts. Separate retraction units may also be purchased. For trouble-free winter driving heed these safety tips.

Have mechanic add anti-freeze where region demands. This is also a good time to have radiator hoses inspected. If fan belt shows wear, replace it. Have muffler checked for leaks, tailpipe for rust and wear. Winter driving with closed windows and a faulty exhaust system can be deadly. Don't risk poisonous Carbon monoxide fumes inside your car.

Avoid tragic accidents with defective brakes. Faulty operation anywhere in the braking system can cause undue wear of linings, and reduce braking efficiency. Have the mechanic inspect the linings, shoes, seals, springs and drums. Balance your car wheels. Have all 5 tires rotated every 3500 miles. Get an engine tune-up. Your family chariot is now ready for peak performance during winter months for you and your school-age passengers.

Statistics show that more than 40 per cent of all grade school children suffer from ailments attributable to shoes they have outgrown.

Is School Worth All The Sacrifice, The Pain, And The Effort? We Think So!

If you're thinking of leaving school, Stop and Think! You'll be closing the door on many opportunities which mean bigger paychecks; greater job satisfaction and more security in the future.

None of the professions will be open to you because these demand training beyond high school, and of course such higher education must be preceded by a completion of high school.

On-the-job training for skilled and even semi-skilled work has been sharply reduced in recent years because there are so many people who have already been trained in high school, to do the work.

Remember, the educated person starts higher up the ladder of success and with the knowledge that's needed in order to climb faster.

We salute the 1964-65 Hempstead and Nevada County Essay Contests and urge the high school students to participate. We ask the cooperation of parents and teachers — for a better educated youth and a greater community.

GREAT GIFTS...

Henry Ford was not in the conventional sense an educated man, but he had a substitute talent — a gift for organization.

One day he was in court with a lawsuit against the Chicago Tribune and the newspaper attorney, trying to prove him ignorant, asked him a question about history. Ford retorted:

"I don't know — but in five minutes I can find out."

The inventor of the assembly line and mass production was a poor boy working long hours in a bicycle-machine shop with his mind concentrated on a great industrial idea — and somehow he never found time for a formal education.

If he knew little history there is a good chance that a couple of his cronies didn't know much more — Edison and Firestone, world-famous in electronics and rubber.

Possessed of a great gift you can afford to gamble — without it you can't.

For the average boy or girl the surest touchstone to success and security is the magic of a good education. That means co-operation with your teachers in school and after-hours co-operation with your parents in "home work."

A step in this direction would be to enter the 1964-65 Hempstead-Nevada County Essay Contests — for a Better You and a Greater America.

GOODBYE TO SUMMER — DEAR GUSSIE!

Gussie the female Basset looks happy enough — but whatever else there may be in leading a dog's life it doesn't include going to school. That fact registers in the regretful look these Hope youngsters put on for this posed "Back to School" picture. The

Hope Star Offers $400 in High School Essay Prizes, Plus Extra $100 for the Best Letters to The Editor

For the best high school essays produced in Hempstead and Nevada Counties during the 1964-65 school year Hope Star announces the following cash prizes:

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY — $100 first prize, $50, $25, $15, $10; total for county $200.

NEVADA COUNTY — $100 first, $50, $25, $15, $10; total for county $200.

All essays must be cleared through the high schools and submitted by them to the newspaper. Submissions by individual students direct to the newspaper are forbidden and will be thrown away.

The schools, therefore, will be responsible for identifying the contestants as properly enrolled students and guaranteeing as far as possible that the essays are the students' own work.

The $400 in school prizes for the two counties will be awarded at the end of the 1964-65 school year. Judging will be by the newspaper staff, with whatever outside consultation that may be desirable.

The No. 1 requirement of all essays will be that they are original. Any serious doubt on this score — whether at the high school level or in the final judging — will disqualify the contestant and his paper.

You may choose any subject, and there is no limitation as to length. However, bear in mind what a French classicist wrote in a letter to his daughter: "My dear, if I had more time I would write you more briefly."

In addition to the two county school contests The Star has added an extra $100 in cash for the best letters to The Editor written by the general public in either Hempstead or Nevada Counties.

These letters, of course, should be sent directly to Hope Star. One $10 prize will be awarded each month for the next 10 months.

We hope to make these contests annual events. Here's why:

A Hope father told The Editor a famous out-of-state university reported that his child — and most other graduates of Arkansas high schools — was deficient in English composition. That is, they could read, but couldn't write well. Sound education and good government require that communication be a two-way street. The purpose of Hope Star's cash writing awards is to make sure that this two-way street is kept open.

Don't be misled into thinking that any of these remarks are in any way a reflection upon our public schools or their teachers. You and I know that when we were kids there was such a thing as "home work" — which is still imperative if the teachers' message is to be effective. The true purpose of these prizes for good writing is to "get through" to the youngsters and their parents — to stir up interest in doing that little extra home work which puts the "E" in Education.

This is the second of our Four Seasons Tableids — twice as big as the Summer number of May 27 — and that one got national attention in the graphic arts publications: The Publishers' Auxiliary of July 4, and the American Press of July.

I want to thank our supporting advertisers for their confidence in our business house — and our staff, who got out this large edition without delay.

THE GREAT AIM OF CULTURE IS THE AIM OF SETTING OURSELVES TO ASCERTAIN WHAT PERFECTION IS AND TO MAKE IT PREVAIL.

— Matthew Arnold

Truly, the first step toward this Aim Of Culture is Education, and, the securing of this education depends on the boy and girl student, as well as the parents and teachers.

Today, more than ever before, a high school diploma is vital to the young man or woman who want a career. In fact, it is difficult to obtain any job without completing the high school course.

Education is a weapon. Use it to strengthen yourself — your community — your nation.

Education is a privilege. It allows you to think freely and intelligently — to speak and write independently and truthfully.

We urge the high school students of Hempstead and Nevada Counties to enter the Essay Writing Contests. We trust the parents and teachers will assist these students in this endeavor for a Better Educated American Youth!

Today You Are on Fast Track Schedule for Your Grades

You are now building the body which will stand you in good stead as a young adult. Your energy needs are high. Because so much depends on your vitality and stamina your diet should be intelligently chosen.

In addition to lean meats and fish, include adequate amounts of dairy products, fresh fruits, and vegetables. Sunflower seeds, and nuts are also tasty and nutritious.

You need protein to supply the building-blocks for bone and tissue. You require sweets like honey and maple syrup to give you quick energy. You should value honey particularly because of the body's ability to pick up spurts of energy from it within minutes. Ordinary candy confections sometimes take over two hours to give you extra drive. This is why many Olympic team members carry honey with them during practice trials and during competition.

Another valuable quality of honey is its way of normalizing body weight. For those who are underweight, it tends to add pounds. Those overweight find that through its use girth is reduced.

When low in spirits or tired from gym-class it is an excellent idea to eat fresh fruit or crisp vegetable sticks instead of some goopy concoction which has little or no nutritional content and will tend to add unnecessary weight.

Finding delicious ways of not only aids your own diet but helping to serve nutritious foods gram, but helps you prepare for skillful home-making in the future.

An inexpensive fresh juicing machine can make mealtime fun and supply you with more vitamins and minerals than can usually be obtained through the cooking process with the same items. Be sure to get the kind that has an easy-to-clean mechanism to encourage frequent use.

Dentists tell us that it is well to learn to eat our vegetables a little crisp in order to preserve as many of the nutritional qualities of cooked foods as possible.

Get Eyes Ready for Schoolltime

About four million young Americans will be entering school for the first time this year. The child with impaired vision may have learning difficulties as a result of classroom failures.

The Better Vision Institute has recommended a professional eye examination for all pre-school children, even as young as three. And The BVI points out that a defect in vision which could have been easily remedied in an early test may de-

At dessert time arrange to have sweets followed by something chewy like celery or carrot sticks to promote stronger gums when brushing is not immediately possible.

Learn the high protein values of such powerful foods as sunflower seeds. Eat them shelled and uncooked for best nutritional value.

Investigate the making of new dishes from natural foods to surprise the family. For example, a dish made with fresh coconut and pineapple is a meal in itself and highly nutritious. Use the fresh juice from the shell as a light dressing.

Think About A Career Early

Because the choice of a career is so important it is one that should be made intelligently, with a great deal of time, thought, and effort on the part of students, well in advance of their entry into the business or professional world well before graduation.

Unfortunately, too often students choose a profession for the wrong reason . . . sometimes they are forced into a particular field through parental pressure. Often such persons prove velop into a serious problem handicapping for years.

By observing the child's eyes, noting suspicious things in his behaviour and watching his development activities closely, an alert parent may be able to detect eye trouble that can be corrected long before the child must learn to read.

Signs of trouble that merit further investigation include red, encrusted or swollen eyelids with recurring sties; inflamed and watery eyes.

Frowning and squinting when looking at distant objects, should be taken by parents as trouble signs.

a success in that field, but they can never be completely happy because their pattern of interest are suited to other work. Sometimes a student's ambitions will exceed his abilities and he will either fail or only be a moderate success in his profession, whereas he might have done better in a less taxing field.

Often personality, rather than intelligence, is the guideline to the right career. Thus a person who is a successful salesman may be a total failure as a sales manager simply because his personality is not suited to that type of work.

Fortunately, today, students can avail themselves of psychological and aptitude tests such as those given at vocational guidance centers to learn for which occupation they are best suited.

Classic coats and suits, softly detailed and lightly-fitted provide the new fall '64 coverage for the back-to-school crowd. Uncluttered, well-mannered and flattering to young figures, these favorites will go everywhere with best-dressed co-eds.

Effective Writing Is A Vital Part Of Good Communication

— Disraeli

The above quotation from Disraeli was never more true, or necessary, than it is today. With the entire world in constant turmoil, from one cause or another, and which stretches from each generation to the next, the ability to communicate between nations might help to ease the tension and uncertainty which surrounds us.

The Kids Of Today Are Tomorrow's Citizens!

There is a slogan which pertains to our National Forest Products, "Use Wood For The Common Good" which happens to be more than just a slogan... it's a way of life in Arkansas — and a good one, too. Over 39% of all manufacturing employes in our state derive their living from wood-using industries.

It is now more important than ever for Arkansas to build homes, churches and schools. Home and churches are indeed vital, but in this message, we'd like to stress schools — which means education. This education is to mold our "Kids of Today" into our "Tomorrow's Citizens." In that education must come a multitude of writing. Learn to write! Safety and a Little Charity Really Begins at the Home

With the advent of school, parents should re-evaluate safety and health habits in the home. Though they are rightfully stressed in school, these very important subjects should not be the concern of the classroom alone.

A few extra minutes spent in advising children in a casual, non-alarming manner at home may lead to the prevention of innumerable accidents and sicknesses. By acquainting children with the ordinary commonsense aspects of fire prevention, safety in sports, and first aid, parents not only can instill awareness of problems, but develop intelligent attitudes and practices concerning these subjects, to use for a lifetime.

There are many occasions throughout the year that call attention dramatically to realistic fire safety problems. . . . Halloween hazards, Christmas trees, and fireworks. A screaming fire engine siren or a destructive fire in the neighborhood can lead the parent and child to an examination of fire prevention problems on a personal level.

Though many accidents involve fire, parents should go to considerable effort in teaching their children safety in sports. Teaching them to swim properly may take only a few weeks, but it is also a matter of life and death. It is one thing every parent should insist on his child learning. A swimming pool is one of the most dangerous places a child can be.

A direct or immediate approach should be considered not only in teaching safety in sports, but in teaching children safety in the home. Children should be shown combustible materials and warned of their flammable nature. Simple home safety rules should be given, too, such as "Use flashlights to find gas leaks, disconnect appliances not in use, never run wiring under rugs, and don't use worn electric cords." Emphasize the danger of standing on chairs, running out in the street without first looking, care with barbed wire and innumerable other ordinary domestic situations. A list of rules for the home can be hung in an accessible place. Maybe a bulletin board organized by the children and exhibited in their room could help to make the family safety conscious.

And, of course, parents should be constantly aware of leaving poisonous or dangerous articles within a child's reach. In rural areas, especially, death lurks in old, discarded ice-boxes.

With the opening of the school year, health and safety should be major factors in family life. Carelessness in duty unawareness of potential dangers can cause a multitude of problems. Parents must realize that tragedy doesn't always happen in some other family. "It can happen here." By developing healthy attitudes and practices, parents can contribute greatly to their children's well-being.

Attach name tapes to every item in a child's wardrobe. For youngsters who will live away from home during the school months, be sure to mark all linen and belongings they will take along.

Science Can Come From Flower Pot

One of the most effective modern aids in teaching elementary science to youngsters is more than 17,000 years old. It's the familiar red clay flower pot.

Popular far back in ancient Egypt, today's red clay flower pots are finding increased use today to introduce youngsters to the life sciences. Long recognized by amateur and professional gardeners as the best plant container, it has found a new acceptance in school labs.

Science teachers have found that a convenient and popular way to explain the process of reproduction and growth is to have children grow plants from seed in the classroom. Children sow seeds of various plants and flowers, and watch them germinate, grow into seedlings, mature, and eventually produce more seeds.

The clay pot itself helps explain the relationship of the plant to the soil. Since the clay itself is compressed soil, students can see how excess water seeps through the sides, just as it does through the earth. They also see how excess harmful salts in the earth come out in the same way through the porous sides of the pot, so that the plant enjoys better health.

This demonstration is so easy to do and understand, that mothers are also teaching preschoolers that container gardening is fun. Naturally, the children enjoy the whole idea of taking care of their own miniature gardens.

For more advanced youngsters, who are interested in the life sciences, these clay pot gardens are ideal for science fair projects. A youngster might try growing six tomato plants from seed, using a different plant food on each plant. He will quickly observe that any food deficient in nitrogen, for example, will result in small, stunted plants. In this way, he learns, and can demonstrate, the importance of a balanced diet for all living things.

School lunches take very little time to prepare in the morning if you freeze a week's supply of sandwiches and desserts ahead of time.

A Famous Dixie Scene—Hog-Killing Time Down South

This is the only "repeat" picture in today's edition — but the approaching Autumn season required that it be reprinted. The photograph was made last December 10 on the Goodlett farm at Goodlett, northwest of Ozan on Highway 4. Every year on December 10, rain or shine, Sloman Goodlett and his farm folks put up their hog crop.

It's a tradition that goes back to just after the Civil War when Grandfather Goodlett bought the homestead. Back yonder they used to butcher as many as 75 hogs. Last year the total was 8. The output: 400 pounds of sausage, 60 gallons of lard, 16 hams, 2 bushels of cracklings.

Fourteen persons are in the picture — and all were born and reared on the Goodlett farm or in the neighborhood.

Learn To Write Well, Or Not To Write At All.

—Dryden

Most of the world lives in darkness! Truly, a hard statement, but nonetheless, a hard fact. More than half the countries of the world live under a partial black-out of news — through censorship.

The people of these countries have lost a guiding light to freedom — the complete, true knowledge of all that is happening in the world. These countries have lost their freedom of the press because their governments know that what Thomas Jefferson said was true: "When the press is free, and every man able to read, all is safe."

In our nation, freedom of the press and public education were made an integral part of our way of life, because our Founding Fathers, also, knew that Jefferson's statement was true — and they planned our government to rest in the hands of the people.

To help keep our nation free of tyranny — to help keep our people well informed, good writers must be developed to present the news truthfully and impartially. Try your skill at writing. Enter the Hope Star's Essay Writing Contest in Hempstead and Nevada Counties.

A Little Learning Is A Dangerous Thing, Drink Deep, Or Taste Not The Pierian Spring.

— Alexander Pope

LINCOLN'S NO. 2 MAN

Americans have honored for a century the dramatic legend of young Abe Lincoln educating himself with reading and writing by the flickering light from a fire-place in a frontier log-house.

Wise, resourceful — and educated — this determined young man went on to become the 16th President of the United States.

Not so dramatic but equally important to history is the story of Lincoln's No. 2 man — Andrew Johnson, who, upon his Chief's assassination, became the 17th President in 1865.

Lincoln knew what he wanted from the beginning — an education — and got it before he became a grown man.

But Johnson, son of a North Carolina Inn porter and later apprenticed to a Tennessee tailor, came to manhood as an illiterate. He married a Tennessee school teacher and in his adult years was taught by her to read and write.

Lincoln came on at the first chance — but for Johnson it was the second and last chance — yet both climbed the long hill to Fame.

However, to Johnson fell the unfinished task of the slain Lincoln — binding up the wounds of the Civil War and unifying our America. He was impeached by Northern radicals in the House, and narrowly avoided being deposed as President in his trial by the Senate. The history-book praises him today as a great and generous statesman — one of those rare coincidences when the No. 1 and No. 2 men paralleled each other not only in early poverty and self-education but also in performance at the Hall of Fame.

If there is a lesson in this for our young people of today, it is this:

Take advantage of the educational opportunities which are given to you so freely today but which great Americans had to fight for in their own time.

Listeners Should Be Able To Speak... Readers Should Be Able To Write!

The Library — A Respected Old Friend!

When the senior leaves high school and begins his college year, he finds that his academic life has changed.

Courses have unfamiliar names, professors lecture him from their notes with a deceptively casual air, expecting him to get the information all down, digest it and "return" it at exam time.

Then he discovers with a sigh of relief that the college library, except for being larger, possibly with a larger staff, has changed little. It is still "Old Reliable."

The library's main service to the high school is of course supplying reference books to supplement course-lectures, to provide background material — and for sheer enjoyment. It is also used to search for things that count — and help the student keep his grades high. It could be used for writing.

We urge the students of this area to take full advantage of their school libraries. They're wonderful for research for themes, short stories, essays and other class assignments. And be sure to enter the Hempstead and Nevada County Essay Writing Contests.

Knowledge Is Wealth!

Our bank is a public service institution as well as a vital beneficial commercial enterprise in the community. In determining policy, the two factors always considered are: Will it benefit and protect our depositors; and is it of value to Hope and Hempstead County in the constant effort to achieve further progress.

We know that education of our young people will bring that Progress to our community and we urge the high school students of this area to enter the Hope Star's Essay Writing Contests.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

HOPE, ARKANSAS

• Serving This Community Since 1893 •

Will you leave these freedoms to your children?

Men have died to leave you these 4 symbols of freedom:

A Holy Bible—symbol of your right to worship as you wish.

(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A door key—your right to lock your door against illegal government force and prying.

(Fourth Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A pencil—freedom to speak or write what you think, whether you agree with the government or not.

(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

And a free ballot—your right to choose the people who represent you in government—your protection against government tyranny.

(Article I, U. S. Constitution)

In half the world today, these symbols and the things they stand for have been destroyed.

And Khrushchev says it can happen here, that our grandchildren will live under socialism.

Unthinkable? Yes—but only so long as America guards its freedoms well. Against threats that come from inside our country, as well as from the outside.

In these critical times you would think that all of America's energies and financial resources should be concentrated on strengthening our country's defense.

But there are some people who would weaken this effort through needless government spending. For example, they want to use billions of your tax dollars to put the government deeper into the electric power business.

Such spending is unnecessary because the investor-owned electric light and power companies can supply all the additional power a growing America will need.

Each time the government moves further into business—any business—it is another step on the road to socialism. And socialism is one thing Americans do not mean to leave to their children, or grandchildren, despite what Khrushchev says.

Quoting from the First Amendment, U.S. Constitution, "Freedom to speak or write what you think, whether you agree with the government or not." . . . AP&L urges the high school students of Hempstead and Nevada Counties to enter the Essay Writing contests being sponsored by the Hope Star. Write on any subject you may choose and know that you are protected by a Free Press . . . a heritage of our great America!
